Making Your Civil Marriage Valid

In the Catholic Church, three things make a marriage a valid sacrament: freedom, consent, and form.

Freedom: no existing civil or common-law marriage, no pressure to marry, and no condition that would limit a person's freedom.

Consent: vows of a lifelong, exclusive union for the good of the spouses and the procreation and education of children.

Form: how and where the ceremony takes place.

An invalid marriage can be made valid. The Church calls this convalidation.

If either spouse has a previous marriage, our trained parish Advocate can assist through the annulment process.

If neither spouse has a previous marital bond and only form was lacking, the parish can help the couple convaliddate the marriage.

Prayer for Vocations

O Lord, our holy Shepherd,
You call every one of us to holiness and surround us with the company of the saints.
Plant in our hearts a deep desire for vocations to the priesthood, religious life, and holy marriage.
Give us courage to follow the path of the saints and to answer when You call.
Guide us with faithful and willing hearts.
Fill us with zeal to serve Your people, purity to reflect Your love, and humility to seek only Your will.
May we answer Your call with generous hearts, lead others closer to You, and find lasting joy in serving Your Church.
Amen.

Tips & Etiquette

The Mass we celebrate today is the same sacrifice Christ offered at the Last Supper and on the Cross. From the earliest days the Church has gathered to hear the Word and to offer the Eucharist. The essential form has remained unbroken for nearly two thousand years.
For centuries, languages, and cultures the Church has preserved this sacred order. The readings, the Eucharistic Prayer, and Holy Communion are not inventions of our age. They are the living Tradition of the apostles, handed on from generation to generation.
When we stand, kneel, and receive at the altar, we join the saints who have done the same before us. The Mass continues without interruption because Christ promised to be with His Church until the end of the age.

Poor in spirit, meek, merciful, and persecuted

At the end of her short life, my hero, St. Thérèse of Lisieux, found herself in a curious position. Audaciously, she was convinced that she would become a great saint and would be loved by many after her death. At the same time, she insisted that she was weak, impatient, and ordinary. She became arguably a great saint in modern times. How is it possible, an ordinary and imperfect person can also be a great saint? On this All Saints' Day, Jesus overturns our assumptions about holiness. He says, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 5:3). The blessed are not the impressive or the self-sufficient, but the poor in spirit, the meek, the merciful, and the persecuted. These are not heroic traits by normal standards. They are signs of a heart that has learned to rely on God rather than itself. That's what St. Thérèse, and all the saints, are all about.

All Saints' Day is not a celebration of spiritual elites. Rather, it announces what grace can do in our ordinary lives. The saints are not those who avoid weakness or suffering, but those who allow these things to deepen their trust. What good news for us! The smaller and weaker we are, the more qualified we are to be great saints.
